Long-distance courses a hit with jail inmates

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Chandigarh: With a deep resolve to leave their past behind and improve the future, inmates at jails in Bureil, Ambala and Patiala have enrolled themselves in various long-distance courses being run by the Indira Gandhi National Open University's Chandigarh centre. As many as 120 inmates in Bureil Model jail alone are pursuing these courses from IGNOU.

"Inmates are given admission in these courses based upon their interest. The study is free of cost and examinations are conducted with the prisons serving as centres. Jail officials act as centre superintendent and get the exams conducted," said Joginder Kumar Yadav, regional deputy director, IGNOU.

While there was a provision for jail inmates to pursue under-graduate and other courses, the inmates had to pay for it. IGNOU has been offering these courses in the region free of cost for more than a year now – an initiative that began with Patiala Central Jail in 2012. In various prisons of Haryana – including Ambala and Patiala – 692 inmates are enrolled in IGNOU courses.

A number of inmates at Ambala and Patiala jails are also pursuing various courses like BA, BCom, Bachelor in Tourism, sociology, history, rural development and disaster management. These inmates study free of cost and the exam is conducted in the jail under the supervision of officials there.

Prisoners have opted for courses like diplomas in rural management, disaster management, HIV and family education and degree courses like English, public administration and sociology. Other popular courses include bachelors in tourism and masters in history and Hindi.
